

HOME, BUT NOT ALONE

WORKING REMOTELY

When work comes home with you, it can cause a mess. Remote workers can still be targeted by attackers going after company data, and that could mean you fighting dangers coming in through your own network. Kick out the intruders by using strong Wi-Fi and router passwords, and lock the door with a VPN. Then you can be sure you're really home alone.